UNIT-4

Comprehension from Seen & Unseen Passages

Read the following passage carefully and answer the questions given below in the context ofthe passage.

But for the fact that only higher education, the only education worth the name, has been received byus through the English medium, there would be no need to prove such a self-evident proposition thatthe youth of a nation to remain a nation must receive all instructions, including the highest, in itsown vernacular or vernaculars. Surely, it is a self-demonstrated proposition that the youth of a nation cannot keep or establish a living contact with the masses unless their knowledge is received througha medium understood by the people. Who can calculate the immeasurable loss sustained by thenation owing to thousands of its young men having been obliged to waste years in mastering aforeign language and its idiom, of which in their daily life they have the least use and in learningwhich they had to neglect their own mother tongue and their own literature? There never was agreater superstition than that a particular language can be incapable of expansion or of expressingabstruse or scientific ideas. A language is an exact reflection of the character and growth of its speakers.Among the many evils of foreign rule, this blighting imposition of a foreign medium upon the youthof the country will be counted by history as one of the greatest. It has sapped the energy of the nation, it has shortened the lives of the pupils, it has estranged them from the masses, it has made educationunnecessarily expensive. If this process is still persisted in, it bids fair to rob the nation of its soul. Thesooner, therefore, educated India shakes itself free from the hypnotic spell of the foreign medium, the Better it would be for them and the people. (Gandhi in Young India, 5 July, 1928).

2. Read the following passage carefully, and answer the questions given below.

Unquestionably, a literary life is for the most part an unhappy life, because, if you have genius, youmust suffer the penalty of genius; and, if you have only talent, there are so many cares and worriesincidental to the circumstances of men of letters, as to make life exceedingly miserable. Besides thepangs of composition, and the continuous disappointment which a true artist feels at his inability toreveal himself, there is the ever-recurring difficulty of gaining the public ear. Young writers are buoyed up by the hope and the belief that they have only to throw that poem at the world's feet to getback in return the laurel-crown; that they have only to push that novel into print to be acknowledgedat once as a new light in literature. You can never convince a young author that the editors of magazinesand the publishers of books are a practical body of men, who are by no means frantically anxiousabout placing the best literature before the public. Nay, that for the most part they are mere brokers,who conduct their business on the hardest lines of a Profit and Loss account. But supposing yourbook fairly launches, its perils are only beginning. You have to run the gauntlet of the critics. To ayoung author, again, this seems to be as terrible an ordeal as passing down the files of Sioux or Comanche Indians, each one of whom is thirsting for your scalp. When you are a little older, you willfind that criticism is not much more serious than the bye-play of clowns in a circus, when they beataround the ring, the victim with bladders slung at the end of long poles. A time comes in the life ofevery author when he regards critics as comical rather than for-midable, and goes his way unheeding.But there are sensitive souls that yield under the chastisement and, perhaps, after suffering much Silent torture, abandon the profession of the pen for ever. Keats, perhaps, is the saddest example of afine spirit hounded to death by savage criticism; because, whatever his biographers may aver, thatfurious attack of Gifford and Terry undoubtedly expedited his death. But no doubt there are hundredswho suffer keenly from hostile and unscrupulous criticism, and who have to bear that suffering in Silence, because it is a cardinal principle in literature that the most unwise thing in the world for anauthor is to take public notice of criticism in the way of defending himself. Silence is the only safeguard,as it is the only dignified protest against insult and offence.

Choose the correct option:

1. Why is the literary life mostly an unhappy one?
(i) Because a genius suffers the penalty of genius, and a talented person has so many cares and Worries
(ii) Because it is mostly a lonely life
(iii) Because it does not pay much materialistically
(iv) Because it is difficult to get a reading public

2. What are the ambitions of a young author?

(ii) to be acknowledged as a new light in literature
(ii) to be able to reveal himself
(iii) to gain a public ear
(iv) to get his compositions published

3. Are editors and publishers sympathetic to young authors?
(i) They are (ii) they are not
(iii) They are anxious about placing only the best literature before the public
(iv) They are mere brokers who conduct their business on the hardest lines of a Profit and Loss account.

4. What are the ordeals awaiting the young author from the critics?
(i) The critics harass him (ii) he has to run the 'gauntlet' of the critics
(iii) He has to save his scalp, as the critics throw stones at him
(iv) The critics are sympathetic towards him

5. What attitude should an author adopt in the face of bitter criticism?
(i) he should defend himself
(ii) he should regard critics formidable and change his way of writing
(iii) he should suffer silently
(iv) he should take criticism as not more than the bye-play of clowns in a circus and go his way unheeding.

6. Why does a true artist suffer?
(i) he suffers because of the pangs of composition
(ii) he suffers because of his inability to express himself.
(iii) he suffers because of the difficulty in gaining the public ear
(iv) all the above
7. What happens to the sensitive authors when they are attacked by critics?
(i) they remain indifferent (ii) they commit suicide
(iii) they abandon the writing profession (iv) none of the above
8. The attack of Gifford and Terry
(i) forced Keats to give up writing (ii) expedited the death of Keats.
(iii) brought Keats to limelight (iv) none of the above
9. The cardinal principle in literature is (i) not to maintain one's own style throughout one's literary career
(ii) to satisfy the critics
(iii) to satisfy the public
(iv) not to take public criticism in the way of defending oneself
10. The only safeguard against insult and offence is (i) to maintain a dignified silence (ii) to protest openly
(iii) to defend one's own writing (iv) to attack the offenders
ANSWERS
1. (i) because a genius suffers the penalty of genius and a talented person has so many cares and worries

8. (ii) expedited the death of Keats
9. (iv) not to take public criticism in the way of defending oneself
10. (i) to maintain a dignified silence
3. Read the following passage carefully to answer the questions given below it.
The University Grants Commission's directive requiring college and university lecturers to spend aminimum of 22 hours a week in direct teaching is the product of budgetary cutbacks rather thanpedagogic wisdom. It may seem odd, at first blush, that teachers should protest about teaching amere 22 hours. However, if one considers the amount of time academics require to prepare lectures of good quality as well as the time they need to spend doing research—it is clear that most conscientiousteachers work more than 40 hours a week. In university systems around the world, lecturers rarelyspend more than 12 to 15 hours in direct teaching activities a week. The average college lecturer inIndia does not have any office space. If computers are available. Internet connectivity is unlikely.Libraries are poorly stocked. Now, the UGC says, universities must implement a complete freeze on all permanent recruitment, abolish all posts which have been vacant for more than a year, and cutstaff strength by 10 per cent. And it is in order to ensure that these cutbacks do not affect the quantumof teaching that existing lecturers are being asked to work longer. Obviously, the quality of teachingand academic work in general — will decline. While it is true that some college teachers do not taketheir classes regularly, the UGC and the institutions concerned must find a proper way to hold themaccountable. An absentee teacher will continue to play truant even if the number of hours he isrequired to teach goes up.All of us are well aware of the unsound state that the Indian higher education system is in today.Thanks to years of sustained financial neglect, most Indian universities and colleges do no research worth the name. Even as the number of students entering colleges has increased dramatically, publicinvestment in higher education has actually declined in relative terms. Between 1985 and 1997, whenpublic expenditure on higher education as a percentage of outlays on all levels of education grew bymore than 60 per cent in Malaysia and 20 per cent in Thailand, India showed a decline of more than 10 per cent. Throughout the world, the number of teachers in higher education per million populationgrew by more than 10 per cent in the same period; in India it fell by one percent. Instead of transferringthe burden of government apathy on to the backs of the teachers, the UGC should insist that theneeds of the country's university system are adequately catered for.

Choose the correct option:

1. Why does the UGC want to increase the direct teaching hours of university teachers?
(i) The UGC feels that the duration of contact between teacher and the taught should be more.
(ii) The UGC wants teachers to spend more time in their departments.
(iii) The UGC wants teachers to devote some time to improve university administration.
(iv) The UGC does not have money to appoint additional teachers.
(v) None of these.

2. Which of the following is the reason for the sorry state of affairs of the Indian universities as mentioned in the passage?
(i) The poor quality of teachers.
(ii) Involvement of teachers in extra-curricular activities.
(iii) Politics within and outside the departments.
(iv) Heavy burden of teaching hours on the teachers.
(v) Not getting enough financial assistance.

3. Which of the following statement(s) is/are TRUE in the context of the passage?
(I) Most colleges do not carry out research worth the name.
(II) The UGC wants lecturers to spend minimum 22 hours a week in direct teaching.
(III) Indian higher education system is in unsound state.
(i) Only (I) and (III) (ii) All (I), (II) and (III)
(iii) Only (III) (iv) Only (II)

4. Besides direct teaching, university teachers spend considerable time in/on ...
(i) administrative activities such as admissions
(ii) supervising examinations and correction of answer papers
(iii) carrying out research in the area of their interest
(iv) maintaining research equipment and libraries

5. Which of the following statements is not true in the context of the passage?
(i) The UGC wants teachers to spend minimum 40 hours a week in teaching.
(ii) Some college teachers do not engage their classes regularly.
(iii) The average college teacher in India does not have any office space.
(iv) The UGC wants universities to abolish all posts which have been vacant for more than a year.
(v) All of these are true.

6. Between 1985 and 1997, the number of teachers in higher education per million population, in India ....
(i) increased by 60% (ii) increased by 20%
(iii) decreased by 22% (iv) decreased by 10%
(v) decreased by 1%

7. Which of the following statements is not true in the context of the passage?
(i) Indian universities are financially neglected.

(ii) All over the world, the university lecturers hardly spend more than 12 to 15 hours a weekin direct teaching.
(iii) Indian universities are asked to reduce staff strength by 10%.
(iv) Public investment in higher education has increased in India.
(v) Malaysia spends more money on education than Thailand.

8. Choose the word which is similar in meaning as the word freeze as used in the passage.
(i) Cold (ii) Halt
(iii) Decay (iv) Control
(iv) Power

9. What is the UGC directive to the universities?

JQ5) Read the passage and answer the questions that follows.

The next few days were full of rejoicing. The brother asked after the education of the two boys.He was told by his sister that phatik was a perpetual nuisance.He was lazy,disobedient and wild.But makhan was as good as gold,as quiet as a lamb ,and very fond of reading.Bishamber kindly offered to take Phatik off his sister's hands and educate him with his own children in Calcutta.The widowed mother readily agreed.When his uncle asked Phatik if he would like to go to Calcutta with him ,his joy knew no bounds,and he said,"Oh yes,uncle!" In a way that made it quite clear that he meant it.

It was an immense relief to the mother to get rid of phatik.She had a prejudice against the boy,and no love was lost between the two brothers.She was in daily fear that he would either drown Makhan some day in the river or break his head in a fight,or run him into some danger or other.At the same time she was somewhat distressed to see Phatik's extreme eagerness to get away.

1) According to the explanation given by her mother,how are phatik and Makhan different form each other?

Ans: Phatik was a perpetual nuisance.He was lazy, disobedient, and wild.But Makhan was as good as gold,as quiet as a lamb.

2) What did Bishamber offer?

Ans: Bishamber offered to take Phatik off with him and educate him with his own children in Calcutta.

3) Why was the Mother Happy to send Phatik with his uncle?

Ans: Because he was very lazy and wild.

4) Give meanging of

1) Rejoicing – Jubilation 2) Perpetual – lasting forever 3) jGet rid off- Dump
4- Distressed –sorrow,pain.

5) Find sentence,which is an example of interjection.

Ans: "Oh,yes,Uncle !"

UNIT-5

Poetry:John Donne's "The Good Morrow"

Question :Describe John Donne's poem " Good Morrow" in about 200 words.

Or

Describe John Donne's poem "Good Morrow" in about 200 words.

OR

Discuss the chief features of poetry with special reference to Donne.

Answer: The theme In "Good Morrow" is the nature and fullness of lovers world.Donne takes the everyday idea that lovers live in a world of their own with liitle sense of reality and turns it right round ,so that it is the outside world that is unreal.He says that true love is a spiritual connection that two people share.Initially,love has an element of fun and sex.It is like the dark night -an experience which is hot quite clear.But with the dawn,the true nature of things is revealed.Poet says there was no charm in life before he met his beloved.They were treated as children by people.They were not attracted by the beautiful things at all.After he met with his beloved,their life changed suddenly.It seemed as if they woke from a deep sleep.Now they should forget about everything and only love each other.They should not be bothered by the expansion of the universe.He also included that if they be faithful to each other and love equally even death will fail to kill them.The strength of their love is sufficent to create its own reality.When they watch each other,it is not as in the outside world,out of fear,but to complete themselves ,as each one is half of the world needing the other half.The poem ends with the establishment of true friendship.Experience has thought them that the true happiness can be achieved through a mutul spiritual friendship.

Poetry: William Wordsworth 's Ode on Intimations of Immortality

Question: Discuss Intimations of immortality as a philosphical poem.

OR

Question: Discuss the auto biographical elements in 'Ode on Intimations of Immortality'.

OR

Question: What is the view of birth, childhood, the child's relationship with nature,and the growth into adulthood in wordsworth,ode: Intimations of Immortality?How does the speaker feel about the past and how does he find consolation for his grief.

Answer:The Immoratliy Ode is one of the most famous poems in English Literature.In the whole series of Wordsworth's poems it is the greatest and that to which all others lead up.In 1802,Wordsworth wrote many poems that dealt with his youth.These Poems were partly inspired by his conversations with his sister.In this Ode the poet unlocks his heart and describes a crisis in his intellectual development .In his childhood,he lived in 'the glory and the freshness of the senses.Ode on Intimations of Immortality from recollections of Early childhood.,the disappearing of youthful dream with the advance of age, the natural religiousness that binds our days to each,and the philosophical rewards of maturity.It also expresses the idea of pre-existence and the hope of immortality not as a magic but as a chief light.He described how a child is able to see what others do not see because children do not understand mortality.The immortal nature of the human spirit, automatically known by the child,party forgotten by the growing man,but to be known once more in maturity through strong experience of heart and mind. But the advancing years this report comes to be broken and dim.The things that the poet had seen he now can see no more.He described that his surroundings and various aspects of nature that he is no longer able to feel.Wordsworth reached one of the highest peaks of the English poetry of the Romantic Period with his ode.Indeed it is the high water mark of poetry in the nineteenth century.

Question: What is an ode?

Answer: An ode is a form of poetry such as sonnet or elegy, etc. Ode is a literary technique that is lyrical in nature, but not very lengthy.

Question Discuss 'Intimations of Immortality' as a philosophical poem.

OR

Question: In an essay, compare and contrast Plato's belief in the pre-existance of the soul with Wordsworth's belief on the same topic.

Answer:Like Tintern Abbey,the Immortality Ode is a great philosophical poem.His philosophy has been compared to Plato's, but it is in fact less of an abstract system than a description of his own personal experience of life and the process of ageing.

Briefly his theory seems to be something like this. the new born soul does not come from nowhere,out of nothingness, but from some other ill defined country from afar.The little child still has clear memories and visions of this other,heavenly place,b ut as he grows older thery begin to fade.

Earth does her best to make him forget this other place,and its glories and the child himself tries to hurry on this process of forgetfulness,longing to be grow up copying adults in his games.Eventully he does grown up and forget though he goes through a period when he still has rare hints of memory and dream ,though unable to keep in continuous contact with his sense of glory.

When he is fully mature,even these hints are lost and disappear into the light of common day.On one level,this is a plain description of Wordsworth's own progress from childhood through youth to a somewhat unwelcoming and disillusioned middle age.

Wordsworth's attempts to make his own experience into a general philosophy,applicable to all men,and true of the whole human condition ,that make the Ode confusing,Wordsworth was no philosopher though he felt he ought to be one.His mind never dealt as early in abstract ideas as it did with some huge single physical symbol like the bloodsuckercollector.

poetry: Nissim Ezekiel's Night of the Scorpion

Question: Sketch the different images of India that you can see in the poem'Night of the Scorpion'.

OR

Summarize the feelings of the little boy in the poem Night scorpion.

OR

Question: What are the remarkable features of the poetry of Nissim Ezekiel the Night of the Scorpion?

Answer: Ezekiel is known to be a detached observer of the indian Scenario.One side NIght of the scorpion presents an Indian village through the eyes of an outsider and finds the deep rooted strains of superstition and blind faith which may seem foolish to the western eye.The poem is set in an Indian village.Most of the villagers are peasants.When the poet's mother was bitten by a scorpion. The villagers came running with their candles and lanterns.They looked for the scorpion everywhere but it was not found.It had disappearded in the rain outside.

They prayed that the mother's pain should burn her sins.They prayed that the mother's pain should purify her flesh and her spirit.They sat arround the mother and looked at her with sympathetic eyes.The painful night was long and the holy man came and played his part.He performed his rites and tried to tame the poison with an incantation.But the poet's father was a rationlist.He was not superstitious.He tried on the mother every herb and medicine he had with him. .After twenty hours the poison lost its sting.

As soon as the mother felt some relief,she said,"Thank God the scorpion picked on me and spared my children."But on the other side the poem never fails to highlight the positive side of Indian village life.The poet does not turn a blind eye to the fellow feeling,sympathy and co-operation shown by the villagers.And in a poem that deals with the all conquering power of love,the reader too should be well aware of it.

Write a critical appreciation of 'Night of the Scorpion'.

OR

Question:Narrate in your own words the incident described in the poem,'Night of the Scorpion'.

OR

Write down the summary of the poem , 'Night of the Scorpion'.

Answer:It was a rainy night. The poet's mother was bitten by a scorpion. The villagers came running with their candles adn lanterns.They looked for the scorpion everywhere but it was not found.It had disappearded in the rain outside.

The villagers said that with every movement of the scorpion,the poison in the mother's blood would also move.So they prayed that the scorpion should sit still.They also prayed that the mother's pain should burn her sins.They prayed that the mother's pain should purify her flesh and her spirit.They sat arround the mother and looked at her with sympathetic eyes.

But the poet's father was a rationlist.He was not superstitious.He tried on the mother every herb and medicine he had with him.He even poured a little paraffin on the mother's bitten toe and put a match on it.A holy man tried to tame the poison with a n incantation.After twenty hours the poison lost its sting.

As soon as the mother felt some relief,she said,"Thank God the scorpion picked on me and spared my children."

Question: How does Mr.Kapasi envolve as an interpreter? Explain with reference to the text.

Or

Question: Contrast the characters of Mr.Kapasi in about 200 words.

Answer: Mr. Kapasi is the leading role in "Interpreter of Maladies" by Jhumpa Lahiri. In this short story that is narrated in limited omniscient, Mr. Kapasi is the smart Indian man in his late forties that has lost romantic values in his marriage.

Mr. Kapasi is detail oriented and posseses a lot of attributes such as: observance, hard working, modesty, dependability, intelligence and above all, he is very careful in his physical appearance. He is educated, works two jobs where he uses his lingual abilities, and lives daily without affection from his wife. He is quick to point out the differences and similarities between tourists and himself.

His actual identity was revealed by "Das" family. Mr. Kapasi was ultimately unable to bridge the cultural gap between him and Mrs. Das, which stems from their national differences and or personal ones such as his “romantic” job. Mr. Kapasi” romantic” interpreter job ended poorly with Mrs. Das because he could not relate or translate her disloyalty and self withdrawal that she had towards her husband.

Mr. Kapasi is humble and modest, even when his passengers referred to his job as “a big responsibility” but he felt it was a thankless occupation.Despite all the good qualities that Mr. Kapasi possessed, he was also very insensitive and unreasonable. He did not show any sensitivity to his wife’s objection to his working in the same place where they lost their baby... He also shows maturity and understanding with his ability to quickly drop all the affections he has grown for her and instead attempts to help her understand the true root of her troubled feelings.

Question Discuss the theme of the interpreter of Maladies.

OR

Question: Discuss the significance of Partition as a theme in interpreter of maladies.

Answer: 'The Interpreter of Maladies' is a collection of nine short stories that explore themes identity, the immigrant experience, cultural differences, love and family.The characters are largely Indian or Indian-American and their stories together paint an suggestive picture of India's movement.The stories are about the lives of Indians and Indian American who are caught between the culture they have inherited and the 'New World'.

'Interpreter of Maladies' is the strory of Indian tour guide Mr.Kapasi.He shows the Indian-American Das family the sun temple in Konark and reveals his second job as a translator of symptoms of patients who speak his native tongue.Mrs Das declares his job romantic and important,and Mr.Kapasi becomes briefly obsessed with the woman.Mr.Kapasi notes the parents'immaturity Mr. and Mrs. Das look and act young to the point of childishness,go by their first names when taking to their children,Ronny,Bobby and Tina and seem selfishly indifferent to the kids.

On their trip,when her husband and children get out of the car to sightsee,Mrs.Das sits in the car ,eating snacks she offers to no one else,wearing her sunglasses as a barrier,and painting her nails.When tina asks her to paint her nails as well,Mrs.Das just turns away and refusals her daughter.Mr.and Mrs.Das ask the good natured Mr.Kapasi about his job as a tour guide,and he tells them about his weekly job as an translator in a docter's office.Mr.Kapasi's wife hates her husband's job because he works at the docter's clinic that previously failed to therapy their son of typhoid fever.

Mr.kapasi begins to develop a romantic interest in Mrs.Das and conducts a private conversation with her during the trip.Mr.Kapasi imagines a future communication with Mrs.Das,picturing them building a relationship to translate the coast-to-coast gap between them.However,Mrs.Das reveals a secret,she tells Mr.Kapasi the story of an affair she once had,and that her son Bobby had been born out of her adultery.She explains that she chose to tell Mr.Kapasi because of his profession,she hopes he can understand her feelings and make her feel better as he does for his parents,translating without passing judgement.

Lehiri also establishes a difference in this story between characters who care and those don 't Mr.Kapasi cares about this family he has only just met,he considers them and their situations and cannot offers a solution to her problem.

Question: What does “sexy” mean in the story of the same time?

Answer: “Sexy” tells the story of a young woman, Miranda, and her affair with a married Indian man named Dev.The first time she meets Dev, She is not able to discern his nationality.However she is instantly captivated by his charm and the thrill of being with an exotic, older man.She has pangs of guilt because he is married.

Jhumpa Lahiri's "This Blessed House"

Question Write down a detailed note on the story"The blessed House" to Jumpa Lehiri Bringing out its main theme.

OR

Question: Write down the theme of the story"The blessed House" by Jumpa Lehiri.

OR

Question: Write down the summary of the story"The blessed House".

Answer: Jhumpa lehiri's "This blessed House" was one of the most powerful stories."The blessed House" is a realistic and sympathetic account of a young relatioship.It demonstrated the respect for a religion that people have whether they actually believe in it or not.A young Indian couple,Sanjeev and Twinkle,are recently married and have just moved into their new house.Sanjeev has more of a serious attitude and he pays a lot of attention to the opinion of others.But Twinkle on the other side is livelier and she seems to always look on the bright side of things.Instead of opposites attracting in this situation Sanjeev seems to be annoyed by the things that Twinkle does for example when Twinkle insisted on wearing high heels.

As they go about investigating and fixing up the house, they begin to find small Chirstian oddments, left behind by the previous owners. Twinkle arranges them all on the mantel.Sanjeev thinks they are all silly and wonders why Twinkle is so charmed by them.He wants to her throw them all away.But she did not and hopes to find more.

A week later, Twinkle finds a watercolor poster of Christ, weeping and with a top of barbs on his head.She wants to display it but sanjeev refuses.Twinkle says she will put it in her study, so he will notḴhave to look at it.

When Sanjeev has a moment to himself he recalls a dinner he and Twinkle had in Manhattan a couple of days before.Twinkle drank four glasses of whiskey in a bar,then pulled him into a book store for an hour,and then claimed that they dance a ballet on the footpath. A few days later, Sanjeev returns from the office to find Twinkle on the phone to her girlfriend in California, taking willingly about the "Chiristian things".

One day they are preparing for a housewarming party at the end of October,to which they have invited thirty people,all of them Sanjeev's associates.Twinkle who is still a student at Stanford University,knows no one in the area.

That evening when Twinkle is lying in a bubble bath, Sanjeev says he is going to remove the statue of the Virgin from the front lawn and take it to the dump.Twinkle stands up and says she hates him.She says that she will not let him throw the statue away.He notices that she is crying and his heart softens.They agree a compromise.The statue will be placed in a recess at the side of the house so passerby will not see it, although it will still be visible to anyone who comes to the house.

Question: Explain the dynamics of the house warming party.

Answer: One day they are preparing for a housewarming party at the end of October,to which they have invited thirty people,all of them Sanjeev's associates.Twinkle who is still a student at Stanford University,knows no one in the area.The menu of the party was very simple:there would be a case of champagne,and a samosas from an Indian restaurant in Hartford,and a big trays of rich with chicken and almonds and orange peels, which Sanjeev had spent the greater part of the morning and afternoon preparing.

Sanjeev and twinkle Had prepared the arrangements.But he is very worried about it.for this reason he burned one of the rice trays and had to start it over again.Twinkle swept the floors and volunteered to pick up the samosas.By five thirty the entire house sparkled,with scented candles.

Douglas, one of the new consulants at the firm, and his girlfriend Noora were the first to arrive.Both were tall and blond.The bell rang again, and again and again.Within minutes, its seemed, the house had filled with bodies and conversations and unfamiliar fragrances.The women wore heels and and short black dresses made of crepe and chiffon.Some of the Indian women wore their finest saries, made with gold fingers.Everyone congratulated them.

Question: Write the critical Anaysis of the story "The blessed House ".

OR

Question: The relics"meant something to Twinkle"But nothing to Sanjeev.Expalin their different views.

Answer: This blessed house is another survey of love and marriage and the effects of commuication. A young Indian couple,Sanjeev and Twinkle,are recently married and have just moved into their new house.It is this long distance aspect to their relationship that both helps and hurts the marriage.Twinkle and Sanjeev do not know each other that well and both fail to live up to the other's hopes of what a husband or wife should be.

Here the communication breakdown that happens between the couple intensifies Sanjeev's lonliness.But he is person who has never experiences love and,in some ways,his story is his coming of age.Twinkle is more open to contenment and wonder which Sanjeev lables as"childish".Sanjeev does not want to have to explain things relating to his culture as he is trying to adjust.He introduces his wife under her given name of Tamina rather than Twinkle because he is embarrassed to appear as anything other than a responisble American.In the end his acceptance of the items singnal an acceptance of his wife,her habits,and the cultural differences that should be celebrated rather than hidden.

Objects also carry meaning and reproduce the emotions throughout the story.In specific,the weeping Jesus poster that Twinkle insists on keeping is a hit at the party.Her willingness to negotiations is undone by her going against his wishes.But the fight does unlock the stalemate between the two.

Question Write the Character Analysis of Twinkle in the story"This Blessed House".

Answer: Twinkle is a very pretty Indian woman, who likes to get dressed up and look good.Her face was very girlish looking and had untroubled eyes.Her name in itself shows shw's a fun girl.In the story states she loved to wear high heels, some that were three inches and leopard print.It also says that she had an appointment for a manicure and pedicure before the party so she doesn't like to just dress good, but look good all the way around.

When she says," I would feel terible throwing the Jesus Christ things away."Shows that she is also a very caring person.Twinkle aslo did not have the same taste in music as Sanjeev did because when he was listening to his music she told him to turn it off because it was putting her to sleep.
Twinkle definitely likes to smoke.She's regularly smoking throughout the story.Usually, smoking is a release of stress and other things.She's also likes to tease Sanjeev.She gets excited by the little things in life.

Sanjeev responded to Twinkle in many ways.In one example,he would dote on her and how they met.In another he showed how much he cared by doing little things for her.Including holding her while she cried and compromising with her.The only thoughts that were shown about Sanjeev and what he thought about Twinkle.
All in all, Twinkle has the whole package, disadvantage the being organized and tkdy part.

Technological changes such as the Bluetooth wireless service would revolutionise communication.This would establish connections between mobile computers, mobile phones, portable handheld devices and provide connectivity to the Internet.

Agriculture too, has benefitted from scientific advances.Improved methods of irrigation, better quality seeds and use fertilizers have increased crop.

In his pursuit of excellence, man ignores nature.The destructive potential of atomic energy was witnessed in August, 1945, when the United Stats dropped atom bombs in the Japanese cities of Hiroshima and Nagasaki.

The earth being a unique planet, because of its life supporting features.The atmosphere acts as a blanket, shielding us from the harmful ultraviolet rays of the sun and maintains the right strength of heat...Science has made man civilised but in the process he has ingnored nature.He should believe in 'live and let live'.If man learns to use science carefully, it will make a posittive impact on him.

Importance of Educational System in India.

According to Diogenes," the foundation of every state is the education of its youth." The educational system gives the degrees but does not gurarantee employment. During the ancient universities, Indian educational centres and universities were the temples of knowledge.Indian education was respected around the world for its high quality, syllabi

The present educational system of India was inherited from the british.In the year of 2002, there were 291 universities, 162 traditional universities while the others were professional/technical institutions.

The pressure of the educational system is taking its toll on the children who are hardly out of their infancy.They are made to identify fruits,vegetables,animals,alphabets,numerals,etc for admission in kindergarden.The students learn their lesson by rote,without straining their old cells.

The exam oriented system judges the student on the basis of his performance in the annual examination held at the end of every session.

Admission in a good college is a extraordinary task.The applicants are many but colleges have limited seats for various courses, and hence, cut off percentage for admission is high.

Though the university regulations require each student to have 75 per cent attendance, the fact is that nobody observes this regulation.It is often seen that the students without attending the classes in the college opt to go for private tuitions as a result of which the teachers in the college are not able to take upclasses properly.

The present educational system need be changed so that all children can get proper education.Education should be planned keeping the requirements of industry and business in mind..The number of vocational courses and colleges should be increases which would be able to provide job to the youth.

Population

India is the second most populous country in the world.A developing nation by economic status, India cannot afford to increase her populaion.India become the second country in the world after China to cross the one billion population mark.

It is belief that children are the blessings of God and any effort by man to challenge him would mean the invitation of His anger, has led to the population growth

More children means more hands to addition the family income.They somehow ignore the fact that it also means more children to feed and clothe.Early marriage of girls result in motherhood at the tender age of 16.Education leads to awareness,but in many states,the educational system has become hopeless.

India's rapid growth of population has led to many socio-economic problems.It has the maximum number of starving people in the world

Family planning Programme should not be the only measure to control populaion.It has been recognised that rapid population stabilisation can be achieved only be continued improvement in healthcare facilities concentrating on social indicators like infant and maternal mortality, litercy.The non-governmental organisations are working for the freedom of rural women.The Department of Family welfare has deawn up the National Population Policy 2000 to improve the family welfare services.

The Government of India should make it compulsory for all its employees to adopt the 'small family'norm.Benefits of free schooling and medical aid to the childrten should be provided to the parents adopting this scheme.

Addictin to Drug

Man becomes separate from the society.Failure in his search often leads him to discontenment and sadness and he finds himself a loner in this world.In the modren world,none is natural by stress.Even children are not spared from this.

A section of youth, unable to handle with the expections of their loved ones, either end their lives or experiment with drugs.for seeking temporary escape from the rigours of life.The body then becomes totally dependent on drugs and cannot survive without the daily dose.

Drug abouse is a psychological and social problem.Some younsters take to drugs because they want others to believe that they are superior and mature,other factors that lead to drug addiction are -lack of parental care and supervision,lack of moral and religious education,media and pop culture,broken homes and harted for any authority,etc.

A drug addict in due course gets disaffected from the maionstream of the family, neighbourhood and society.

Our country has been challenged with the problem of an increased handling in drugs.Cultivaition of poppy and opium is legal in U.P.A .Major portion of the drugs available in India is smuggled from Afganistan and Pakistan. There should be regular counselling sessions in schools and colleges to guide students to cope with the stress on campus and in their life after their acadamic pursuits are complete.

Unity in Diversity.

Our country comprising of many ethnic groups with myraid spoken languages,dialects and regional diversities.Different faiths and religions which is reflected in their customs,rituals,norms,dresses and festivals.In spite of the regional diversities,the citizens remain essentially united.There is a society where would religions like christianity,Buddhism,Islam,Zoroastrianism and Judaism have co-existed with Hinduism,Jainism and others.

The Constitution guarantees each individual the freedom to profess,practise and propagate his religion and assures strict impartiality towards all religions.It declares that there would be no state religion in India.

Indian culture has remained alive and dynamic because it has always been tolerant to different cultures.In all parts of the country, cultural unity,the unity of the way of life

Our rich cultural heritage,a legacy which binds the peple together,should be preserved at all costs. A correct balance of traditional values with modem ideas should be the objective.

In recent times, there has been a cultural awakening of the educated youth who have become aware of the beauty of our art forms, crafts., and have started taking a keen interest in educating themselves about their rich cultural traditions.

However,the great Indian traditions of secularism and cultural diversity is undr a major threat,of late.It is imperative that all Indians should bury their petty differences based on caste,religion,etc, and work together to ensure the success of the concept and pratice of unity in diversity.

Poverty

India,once known as the Sone ki Chiriya or 'land of penty', was full of riches. However, coming of the Turks, the Mughals, the Arabs, the Mongols nad the British for spreading their empire or for trade tired its resources to a great level and today, poverty is a harsh reality for a large section of the Indian populaiton.

Poverty may be defined as the incapability to secure the minimum eating requirements for life,health and efficiency.These requirments necessarily include minimum human needs in respect of food, clothing,housing,education and health.

.Poverty is the cumculative effect of many factors operating in the Indians society.The urban poor in India are largely the overflow of rural poor into the urban areas.Both in the rural and in the urban areas,growing inemployment has accentuated the problem of poverty.

The eradication of poverty has been a integral component fo the strategy for economic development in India.The Annapurna Scheme was launched in April 2000.It aimed at providing food security to those senior citizens (65 years and above) who though eligible for the National Old Age Pension Scheme remained uncovered under the Scheme.

Extermination of poverty is a extraordinary task.However,India has travelled a long distance on the road to development since independence.Though India ,today is a poor and developing country,sincere and effective efforts for development and poverty improvement will definitely place it in the group of rich and developed.

Corruption.

Corruption is a widespeard miracle in today's public.In the past 55 years,we have nearly institutionalised corruption as and inseparable part of our life.The miracle of corruption is extensive not only in government offices but even in politics.

.Corruption has reached such high levels because some of us indulge in it for petty gains or convenience and the rest tolerate and accept it.Giving and taking bribes has become the norm rather than an offence.

We often wonder which is the most corrupt department or section of the administration in India.A survey find out the number of people affected by corruption.The anti-corruption agencies, such as the vigilance commissions, anti-commissions ,anti corruption department.CBI are constituted to look into and trap thebribe takers.Such actions can have a short term dramatic effet,but would not deal with the root of the problem.

Corruption at high level of political leadership lead to corruption in the bureaucracy and other wings of the administration like the police or the Public works Department .It spreads from to to bottom..There is a need of a new beginning to make India corruption free.

The government policies should aim at lowering rates of infant mortality and increasing life expectancy at birth through improved healthcare services.In a country where corrupt elements do not hesitate to make money for buying coffins for our martyrs, the depths of depravity can be well imagined.Our attitude is so laidback that we don't even lend our support to those who are fighting against it.

POLLUTION IN INDIA

Pollution has become the most serious issue as everyone is facing lots of health risks in their daily life. Various types of pollutants from the industrial garbage and other activities are polluting our natural resources like air, water, soil, etc. After being mixing into the soil, air and water, they are directly affecting the human being and animal body system and causing variety of deadly sicknesses to health.

Noise pollution is affecting the listening system in the body as well as causing disturbance to the memory.

The rate of pollution in the cities is higher than the villages because of the vehicles transportationSoiled water from the big dirt system, other garbage from the households, by-products from the factories and industries are directly mixing to the rivers, lake and oceans. Most of the solid wastes, garbage and other unused things are thrown away by the people on the land which cause soil pollution and affect the crop production.

All the roads in the cities become full of traffic all through the day because of the increasing number of vehicles which are the reason of both air pollution and noise pollution.

The quality of life is falling day by day as pollution acts as a devil which causes various health ailments like high blood pressure, kidney disorders, respiratory disease, cancer, epidemics, skin diseases, etc.

Modern methods of teaching

A good teaching procedure will lead to effective learning, that’s why it’s very important for a teacher to understand and use applicable or new method of teaching. In our modern technological world where the use of computer is viral, teachers need to learn how to use / apply the new technology so that the teaching-learning procedure will be enjoyable.

Classroom activities to be effective must be governed by different strategies. Pupil to pupil interaction must be observed everytime a lesson will be introduced in the class.

Ideal teaching today encourages the application of new methods in teaching to develop initiative, creativity, confidence, self-reliance and independence among the pupils.

There are lots of modern gadgets which can be used for improving the teaching in the classroom. Here is the list of most popular equipment which can be beused for better teaching learning------ ===

Use of computers or laptops with wi-fi connection in the classroom- This is the most important tool of modern teaching methods. This type of teaching is seen mostly in the higher education institutions which have good infrastructure.

Use of LCD projector in the classroom- Use of LCD screens in the educational institutions is becoming very common nowadays. Teacher prepares the power point slides and which are displayed on the LCD screen with the help of a projector.

Use of interactive whiteboards in the classroom- Whiteboards are very interactive and provides the touch control of the computer applications. On whiteboard a teacher or student can draw, write or manipulate images so providing a very interactive and interesting platform.

The other less popular modern teaching method include-

Use of digital games in the classroom.

Use of special websites or blogs in the classroom.

Use of microphones for delivering the lectuer in the classroom.

Natural Disasters

A natural disaster is a major adverse event resulting from natural developments of the Earth; examples include floods, hurricanes, tornadoes, volcanic eruptions, earthquakes, tsunamis, and other geologic processes.

Earthquakes

An earthquake is the result of a sudden release of energy in the Earth's crust that creates seismic breakers. At the Earth's surface earthquakes manifest themselves by vibration, shaking and sometimes displacement of the ground. Earthquakes by themselves rarely kill people or wildlife. Many of these could possibly be avoided by better construction, safety systems, early warning and planning.

Volcanic eruptions

Volcanoes can cause extensivedamage and resulting disaster in several ways. The effects include the volcanic eruption itself that may cause harm following the explosion of the volcano or falling rocks, lava may be produced during the eruption of a volcano, and it destroys many buildings, plants and animals due to its extreme heat.

Floods

Flood as a temporary covering by water of land which is usually not covered by water. The size of a lake or other body of water will vary with seasonal changes in rainfall and snow melt, it is not a significant flood unless the water covers land used by man like a village, city or other inhabited area, roads, expanses of farmland, etc.

Tsunami

A tsunami , also known as a seismic sea wave or as a tidal wave, is a series of waves in a water body caused by the movement of a large volume of water, generally in an ocean or a large lake.

Blizzards

Blizzards are plain winter storms characterized by heavy snow and strong winds. When high winds mixture up snow that has already fallen, it is known as a ground blizzard. Blizzards can impact local economic activities, especially in regions where snowfall is rare.

Tornadoes

A tornado is a violent and dangerous rotating column of air that is in contact with both the surface of the earth and a cumulonimbus cloud, or the base of a cumulus cloud in rare cases. Tornadoes come in many shapes and sizes

A Scene During recess

The name of our college is desh Bhagat College. It is situated at Sec 6 in the District of FGS. The recess in our school begins after the 3 four periods It begins at half-past one and ends at 2 P.M During the recess, students move about. They move in twos and threes and chat among themselves. Some students stand before the school notice-board. Some purchase Tiffin from a sweets-man seated near the college gate.Some boys divide themselves into several groups and play Ringball and Kabadi.

Inside the Teachers Common Room, some teachers are found reading newspapers. Some are busy writing letters. Some are seen forwarding applications.

Inside the Principal's Office, the Principal seems busy in reading the applications of students. The office-clerk stands beside him to receive some direction. Two or three teachers sit before the Principal for some advice or order Guardian may be found talking about his ward. The Principal's office is found busier than ever. When the bell rings to make the recess over everything comes to normal.

The scene in a college during the recess hour is no doubt a happy scene. It is a sight for gods to see.

The Uses of rubber

Rubber, in one form or another has been used since the times of old, evidence of its use going back 2,000,000 years or more. In those days the substance was derived naturally from the rubber tree. Individuals would then use it to make balls, and to waterproof handmade buckets, pails and more.

As time went on more and more uses for rubber was discovered inspiring the invention of synthetic rubber because the natural alternative could not keep up with the growing demand.

Natural rubber production begins with the tapping of the matured rubber trees of South East Asia and Africa. Workers tap the trees by making an opening which cause the slow flow of the milky fluid called latex, after collected in pails the water is then removed from it and the latex is then turned into raw rubber. The production of this type of rubber consists of the adding of materials like petroleum, crude oil and different types of gases.

Today, rubber is as widely used as wood and this is largely due to its beneficial proprieties like strength, long lasting, water resistance and heat resistance all these benefits makes this material perfect for tire production,

Other benefits like being non slip, soft, durable, resilient makes this material the first choice for playground equipment, shoes, mats, flooring, healthcare supplies, household supplies, balls, toys and thousands of other rubber products. Rubber comes in a large variety of colors, styles and textures making it extremely diverse. Used rubber tires are often recycled to make other items like mulch, shoes, bags, jewelry and coats. It is safe and reliable and seen as a valuable material by many.

Importance of co- curricular activities

Co-curricular and extra curricular activities are an essential part of the curriculum which provide educational activities to the students Co-curricular activities can be defined as the activities that enhance and enrich the regular curriculum during the normal school hours. Whereas extra curricular activities are the activities that take place beyond the normal school hours wherein the students are encouraged to participate voluntarily in activities like NCC, athletics etc.

These activities are designed to meet the needs of the students and cover a broad / wide range of their abilities and talents. These activities enhance the learning experience of the students and help in recognizing and developing their inner skills such as leadership qualities, creative or innovative skills etc.

Co-curricular and extra curricular activities give the students a chance to think out of their box and get creative ideas of their own with the help of a guide / facilitator.Students need to take time outs to do more than just studying and co-curricular and extra curricular activities give them a chance to relax, refresh and mingle easily with others.In short, these activities prepare the students practically for their future.

The normal curriculum teaches and educates the child about academic theories while co-curricular and extra curricular activities help the child to apply what he / she has learnt to practice in their practical life.

These activities help in developing the grasping power of the child and provide an opportunity to the students to work in teams and thus develop team spirit in them.Most of the co-curricular and extra curricular activities are physically active and get the students out their desks to try out new things in a practical way.

My Hobby

Hobby is a particular and most interesting habit than other habit of any person. Hobby is very necessary to be with everyone because it makes one busy and free mind. It never leaves alone us and prevents from the psychological problems

When I was kid, my father generally laughed at me while seeing watering plants. But now he becomes so proud of me that I do something to save plants life and understand their value.

Hobbies are our daily lives activities which we must do. It helps us to get escaped from the daily crush of life. It gives us immense pleasure and peace of body, mind and soul. It is like yoga and meditation and even benefits more than that.

Good hobbies dramatically improve our personality and character traits as well as improve our performances. It helps in discovering our talents and abilities and uses them in right direction.

My favourite hobby is gardening and l like so much planting new plants and watering them in daily morning. The enjoy seeing flowers blooming and plants growing. I really feel sense of great achievements and realize the fact of life.

It helps me keep myself fit, healthy, strong and rejuvenate. Watering plants and gardening on daily basis is a best exercise for me which positively moulds my mind and body.

Is air travel as safe as it should be?

Statistically, air travel is reasonably safe when compared with road, rail and sea. Many countries have a high death and injury rate on the road; train, ferry, and ocean going ship disasters are regular enough to be commonplace, taking a global view. Yet air disasters are usually deadly to all or most concerned and are therefore more widely reported.

Looking first at natural causes, at least three can be identified. Bad weather is one. This included storms, icing and air pockets in the case of light aircraft. One cause in the case of jets can be large flocks of birds or swarms of insects being sucked into the jet nacelles and thereby stopping the engine.. A third is the alleged danger in what is known as the "Bermuda Triangle", in which both ships and aircrafts have been lost without trace..

Most dangers to aircraft are man-made. The first and obvious danger is accident. In the busiest airports, especially in the tourist season, aircrafts may take off as often as every twenty seconds. Personal fatigue or mechanical failure in a radar centre can be very dangerous. Most, though not all countries have strict regulations governing air traffic control.

Another cause of trouble may be the age of the aircraft. Metal fatigue eventually sets in; cracks appear, bits of the aircraft may fall off, even hole engines, or the passenger cabin may lose compression. This means almost certain death to all passengers and crew, and there have been cases where an aircraft has been lost because one of the doors was not properly secured. So also is the importance of regular and completely efficient servicing. Operatives licences can be withdrawn if government inspectors find inefficiency in this area.

UNIT-10
One Act Play: "Chitra" by Rabindranath Tagore

Question: Discuss Rabindranath Tagore as a poet.

Answer: Rabindranath Tagore was a Bengali fount of knowledge, becoming the intial non-European to win the 1913 Nobol Prize in Literature.He played a considerable function in bringing about a new awakening in India in the latter half of the nineteenth century.

Tagore was a genious with frequent sided character.He was a poet, novelist, dramatist, musician, quick story author, teacher, painter, educationist, philosopher and humanist.

Possibly no other Indian had this kind of diverse interests as Tagore had.He was a searcher.He desired to realize himself and that he could only do by expressing himself.As the experiences and feelings varied,the media aslo mixed.

Rabindranth Tagore is one of the best Indian writers in English.He primarily wrote in Bengali but his fame reached his peak by his writings in English.He has proved himself in drama, short stories, poetry and so on.He wa a versatile writer, with hugeenergy.He was inspired by many writers in English like Shakespeare, the writers of Victorian age and the Romantic age.

He had great access to the sources of literatute.His works include -The sea Waves in 1887,Gitanjali in 1912 for which he won the Noble Prize,Gora in 1923 and many more.Tagore is an Indo Anglian writer who has cheerfully offered a symbolism in 'Chitra' and 'The Post Office'.Symbolism is an important aspect of his plays.

Tagore is a true child of his great poetic families.He has recognized and expressed the true glory of love in his world.He teaches us that the love of man and woman is not beautiful, not lasting, not fruitful so long as it is self centered so long as it does not cause goodness so longs as it does not resolve itself in society over son and daughter, guests and neighbours.The remarks that Tagore has made in respect to Kalidas hold true for the poet himself.

Question Write down the Character of Arjuna in the play"Chitra".

Answer: Arjuna’s role in Tagore's play "CHITRA" is a supreme importance.He does have significant in the development of the incidents in the play.He is one of the five Pandavas of the "Mahabharata" and he is reputed warrior.His name is closely linked up with Lord Krishna who conveys to him the golden message of the Gita, the lesson of action", at a time when he was lost in despair.

In the course of his wanderings in completion of a promise of penace, Arjuna comes to Manipur.there he see Chitrangada, the beautiful daughter of Chitravahana, the king of the country.Chitravahana asks him who he is and learning that he Arjuna, the Pandava tells him that Prabhanjana.Arjuna promises and takes Chitrangada to wife and lives in her father's capital for three years.

Arjuna is of the Kshatriya or "Warrior Caste" and during the action is living as a loner retired in the forset.Chitra is the daughter of the king of Manipur.She is a woman and a mother and Arjuna is content and says simply ,"Beloved,my life is full."

Arjuna is found changeable.He sees an appartition of beauty in the perfect form of a woman.Arjuna is charmed by her beauty when he sees her in the temple.She keeps him completely in the hold of her bodily ornaments.She had made him her imprisoned.He further states that she is the wealth of the world, the end of all poverty, the goal of all efforts.

Arjuna is attentive by Chirtra's beauty and he has lost his reasoning power.Arjuna and Chitra together drink the joys of affective love.She feels that she has dishonored Arjuna by boring him into the curls of physical beauty.But she feels sorry that it is all in her costume.

Arjuna soon realises that he must go back home.His attention is arrested by the sound of prayer bells from the village temple, which indicated that he should go back to his normal routine.He desires to posses something that can last longer than pleasure that can undergo even through suffering.

Question: Write down the Character of "Chitra".

Answer: Tagore is an successor of the great literary tradition of Bengal ,Which regarded a woman as the ancient energy of the universe.One is Urvashi and the other Lakshmi.Tagore 's women characters display remarkable liveliness and dazzling variety.In his works women appear as mother,sister,daughter,wife,beloved.There are also mythical,historical,religious,social,reali=stic and romantic characters,placed in several of his dramas,short stories and novels.

Tagore's heroines are both feminine and unfeminine.They belong to the earth but they undergo tremendous changes in their encounter with harsh reality.There is an evolution in the character of Chitra which can be traced from dream to reality and the transition from the fire of flowerly spring to the mellow fruitfulness of autumn.She advances from the paradise of sensual rapture to the ecstasy of illumination and the sustaining delight of wisdom.

Chitra is the princess of Manipur.She is brought up as a warrior.When she looks at Arjuna in his ascetic best clothes for the first time, she becomes conscious of the fact or reality of her being a woman.She considers that she is beautiful enough to win his heart.Chitra is fully conscious that her obtained beauty would shortly disappear, as the petals fall from an overdone flower, the only moment of her sweet union would slip from her.

There is another aspect of Chitra's pesonality as a terror of evil doers and as father and mother to her people.like a watchful lioness she protects the litter at her dugs with a fierce love.Thus before parting form Chitra, Arjuna accepts her in bliss when she casts on him a tranquilizing spell.Chitra becomes all the more beautiful because she has known love and because she is now a prospective mother.

Question: Discuss the element of symbolism in Tagor's play Chitra.

OR

Question: Critical essay on symbolism in Tagore's Chitra

Or

Question: Comment of Tagore portrayal of women, as you find in his play"Chitra

.Answer: In Chitra, symbolism plays an important role.It is based on the well-known Mahabharata story of Chitrangada and Arjuna.Chitra essentially contains the history of a development -the development of flower into fruit,of earth into heaven of matter into spirit.

This play was not meant for dealing with a particular passion but for translating the whole subject from one world to another-to raise love from the spehre of physical beauty to the endless heaven of moral beauty.

The central symbol in Chitra is the offer of beauty to Chitra by the gods, Madana and vasanta, for the span of year.Chitra has been brought up as a son by her father.She falls in love with Arjuna, who however does not recirprocate her love.

Nonetheless, Chitra feels anxious on being rejected like this and seeks the help of the gods.Arjuna's happy and proud acceptance of the real Chitra and the final spirtual fulfilment.There is no conflict between the surface realistic level and the deeper symbolic meaning.

The time factor plays a significant part in the form of the gods'offer of beauty to Chitra for a year.This central symbol fully and organically set in the play is assisted by the symbolic gods,Madana,the body less god of abiding love and Vasanta,the time bound god of spring.

In short,Chitra stands for human desire,Arjuna stands as the seeker of love,the gods Madana and Vasanta stand for love and youth and beauty repectively.The symbols in Chitra are an organic part of the theme.Chitra combines the flowers of spring with the fruits of autumn.It also combines heaven and earth.

Question: What does Chitra symbolise?

Answer: Chitra namely the symbolism of the human psyche of youth and growth.He refers to the symbols," the organic world" of flower and fruit amd plant and creature.There are also symbols of metaphysical passions of illusion and reality.

Question: Narrate the story of "Chitra" as shown by Tagore?

OR

Question: Narrate the theme of the story "Chitra".

Answer:Chitra exhibts a realization of the spiritualist elements of life and love a heavnly message to the human soul as to what is the meaning of love in the truest sense of the term.In chitra,Tagore dicusses the evolution of human love from the physical to the spirtual.Chitra makes her last sacrifice at Arjuna's feet. She is not as perfect as the flowers with which she worships him.She brings to him the gift of a heart of a woman,which is full of pains and pleasures,the hopes and fears and shames of a daughter of the sand.

Chitra and Arjuna both gain and lose their attachment for each other as they had adopted the wrong mode of charming each other. The fulfilment of love thus happens in the last scene of the play when Arjuna meets the real Chitra with all her physical marks and exclaims in joy, Beloved, my life is full."Arjuna's reply is brief but perfect.Thus when the time comes for the lovers to separate, they have no regrets for life has given them all it has to give.

The poet does not place an exclusive value on ordinary love and beauty but that does not mean that they are less important because the responsibilty of fatherhood and motherhood go side by side and one cannot be remote form the other in a concept of pleasant survival.Thus the purpose of the play is not the worship of sexual surrender.

Tagore has in reality an complete view of life and he is as much a poet of love and passion as he is a poet of God and religion.In Chitra he deals with the theme of human love that goes beyond its physical limitations in order to realize its full significance.

Beauty and youth, although they may be passing are yet parts of our experience.The poet teaches us that the love is founded on beauty of body alone is built on insecure foundations.Beauty in human face and form is glorious, brief and mysterious
